Information about the J-1 English proficiency interview at Rice

If you are applying for a J-1 visa to work or study at Rice, you may be required to have an English language proficiency interview. This interview is designed to establish your English proficiency level, as required by the US government for the J-1 visa.

You are NOT required to have this interview if you (1) have taken the TOEFL or IELTS test, have your results, and meet the admissions requirements, or (2) if you hold a degree (or high school diploma) from a country where English is the official language.

A day and time for the interview will be arranged by the Rice department or program with which you will be associated while at Rice. Please wait to be contacted by that department or program. Interviews will be conducted via Skype, so please establish a Skype account (and test your connection) before the interview arrangements are finalized.

The interviews are conducted by staff from Rice's Center for Written, Oral, & Visual Communication. At the agreed upon time, the interviewer will contact you on Skype. The interview will take about 25 minutes and has two parts. In the first part, the interviewer will ask you questions about your current work as well as past experiences learning English. In the second part, you will be given a short document to read about working [or studying] at Rice, and then you will be asked a few questions about the reading.

Your results will be sent to the sponsoring department/program at Rice and added to your J-1 application materials.

If you have additional questions about the English proficiency interview or the J-1 visa application process at Rice, please contact the Office of International Students and Scholars at oiss@rice.edu.
